The Fall of Liberty

From today onward there is a fitting song, tireless words, to the timeless ages from creation set forth in Truth. Righteous men of the ages, looked to Truth and shunned the evil of the ages. Eons of time, epochs of time foretold of the ages; to unfold. And now behold

Heat intense

Rain intense

Summer is gone; fall is come; the winter is cold,
I have past. See how I change the seasons so fast. This spring brings the fall to the market; this fall brings the fall of the liberty to all. Look how the money falls this fall. Have I not warned have I not called; behold I come in the fall.

There is death coming to this Nation; it shall not be resuscitated says the Lord. Look how the gap closes between rich and poor.

Did Pharaoh not say the LORD is righteous, and I and my people are wicked? I and my people have sinned. Why do these people not do the same says the Lord. Did Babylon's King not decree my Sovereignty saying blessed be the God of Shadrack, Meshack and Abendego.

Did he not issue a decree saying that any People, Nation and Tongue which speaks anything amis against the God of Shadrack, Mesheck and Abendego shall be cut in pieces and their house shall be made a dunghill because no other God can deliver like their God.

Was it not written in an unholy language and decreed to a unholy people? If I be your God, where is my honor. Behold the stones will cry out says the Lord.

Behold your God O Nation and People. He has left you to stand alone. He will not hear your cry.
